

VOLUME 27

The "malaria" in Ohio will be all the rage for two weeks more, than Hoadly will join Bookwalter.

The question whether Iowa shall have a school house on every hill-top, or a saloon on every corner lot, will be decided one week from next Tuesday.

The total receipts of the Northern fair held at Oshkosh last week, will hardly reach $7,000, not much more than one-third as much as the receipts of the state fair.

Judge Hoadly has so far recovered that he will take an active part in the canvass. The republicans thank him for this. It is a very timely decision. The more speeches he makes the more thousands Judge Forsaker will have for his majority.

Mr. Robinson, republican nominee for governor of Massachusetts, and Mr. Charles Francis Adams, Jr., were both graduated from Harvard in 1836. "We little thought when we graduated that I would do this thing for you," said Mr. Adams to Mr. Robinson, when he moved his nomination by acclamation on Wednesday.

Ex-United States Senator Jerome B. Chaffee says the most powerful temperance lecture he ever heard delivered to him was twenty-three years ago, when he entered Denver. He invited his tired fellow-passengers of the stage coach to take a drink, and laid down a $20 gold piece, concerning which the bar-keeper said, "All right." That transaction made him a temperance man.

In the next house of representatives there will be 325 members, instead of the 293 of the last house. The eastern states have the ninety-five they had in the last house, the western states have 109 instead of 92; the southern states have 121 instead of 106. The democrats will have a majority of 64, or twice the number of new members. There will be 192 democrats in all. The east sends 42, the west 51, and the south 101.

The editor of the Gazette has received a letter from United States Senator Cameron, stating that the application for the establishment of a postoffice at Luther Valley, in this county, has been denied by the department at Washington. The matter was decided by the acting first assistant postmaster general, and the postoffice denied on the ground that "the necessity for the office is not sufficiently shown."

After Villard's excursion, the price of the Northern Pacific stock fell from $7 to $6 cents. But this won't last long. The road was one of the most daring pieces of enterprise of modern times, and the recent report of the company "tells a wonderful tale of the development of the great northwest, and it shows that already the now completed road bids fair soon to return a profit to its shareholders from the business which it has created for itself in the fertile region it has opened to civilization."

It is said that doctors never like to take their own medicine, and Mr. William Walter Phelps, in his speech to the New Jersey republican convention, was especially happy in the closing suggestion that in as much as the democrats held that any party, having been long in power, must become corrupt the continuous possession of power in the government of New Jersey for fifteen years by the democrats would on their own theory justify the cry, "Turn the rascals out."

Indian Commissioner Price is attempting to put a stop to polygamy among the Indians, and has issued an order that those who have more than one wife must abandon all but one. It is said that the Indians are getting excited over the matter, and if an attempt is made to deprive them of their extra squaws there will be bloodshed. The wisdom of the order is doubted by Indian agents on the reservations, and it is not probable that it can be enforced. Mr. Price has also prohibited the Indians from indulging in their dances, and the Chicago Journal suggests that it would be a good thing if he would deprive them of their whiskey.

The Rev. Dr. Finley, of Ohio, for many years a successful worker in the temperance cause, has given his opinion as to the relative merits of the Scott law in Ohio, and the Iowa plan. He publicly says: "I regard the Ohio law as infinitely superior to the Iowa plan. The Ohio law is a measure of just and practical temperance, because it is one of a practical, effectual and self-enforcing regulation and restriction; the Iowa plan attempts the impracticable and delivers populous communities of the state over to the rule of free whisky, and an untrammelled liquor traffic. Therefore, I should regard the defeat of the republican party in Ohio, in view of its endorsement of the Scott law, a disaster to the cause of temperance. The defeat of prohibition in Iowa could not be considered as in any true sense a failure of temperance or as any injury to the temperance cause."

SAVE THE SEED CORN.

Permit me through your paper to call the attention of your farmer readers to the importance of saving plenty of seed corn.

Wisconsin will need for next spring's planting, 150,000 bushels; there is practically not a bushel of old seed in the state, and thousands of farmers will have no sound corn by reason of the frost. Those so unfortunate should lose no time, but should select good seed from the fields of their more fortunate neighbors. Those having sound corn of good variety should save for others besides themselves. All seed corn to be safe must be dried by fire heat for two or three weeks and then stored in a dry, airy place. We have had enough of Nebraska seed corn. Let there be no lack, next May, of good home grown seed.

W. A. HENRY, Professor of Agriculture, University of Wisconsin. Madison, Sept. 24, 1883.

EXTRAORDINARY RAIL.

Details of a Destructive Storm in the Ohio Valley.

The Tobacco Crop Standing in the Fields Rained-The Rail Banked Four Feet Deep in Places.

MADISON, Ind., Sept. 25.—A fearful rain, wind and hail storm passed over this section of country Sunday afternoon between 3 and 4 o'clock, doing much damage to the growing crops. At Carrollton, Ky., a little town twelve miles above this city, considerable damage was done in blowing down houses and breaking down the roofs of barns. The roads were closed out of M. I. Barker's large new tobacco warehouse. The storm came from the southwest and left desolation in its track. Trees were denuded of their leaves, corn stalks trimmed to bare poles, the fruit scattered off the trees and vines, while the ground was covered to the depth of four to six inches with hail, averaging the size of marbles. Heavy rain and hail fell for some time, lasting some thirty minutes. All the drains were soon filled with hail and leaves. In some places the hail was banked up four feet. Houses were flooded to the depth of six inches, and cellars were filled with water. The rain was driven with such force as to cause nearly every roof to leak, so that many houses were damaged and the water, stored as well as the wind, did much damage. The greatest damage has resulted to the tobacco crop. All in the track of the storm standing in the fields is lost, and that on the seedlings is seriously damaged. So far as known the storm began at Hazard, on the Little Kentucky, and passed over the Kentucky river at Louisville, crossing the Ohio at B. L. Glines', four miles from Carrollton, on the Ohio, and thence up the Ohio river with apparently unabated fury. Mr. Jacob King, of Saluda township, reports a heavy rain and hail storm in his neighborhood. He says the storm at Marble Hill was quite severe. The hail damaged the corn seriously at Brookings. The storm was terrific, but the Indiana shore did not suffer much.

ON THE OHIO SHORE. CINCINNATI, Sept. 25.—That part of the Ohio river between Carrollton, Ky., and what is known as the Meade bar was the scene on Sunday afternoon of one of the most violent and peculiar hail storms ever witnessed. The storm seemed to have left the Kentucky shore at the first named port, traveling from the south-west to the north-east, a mile wide and approached as near to Cincinnati as College hill, leaving the ground white in its track. The steamer Sam L. Keith, going down the river filled with passengers, ran into it at Meade bar, seventeen miles below here, and after a twenty-minute effort to force her way through it was compelled to go to the bank for safety. Her lights were shattered by the hailstones, which are said to have been as large as guinea eggs. They were shoveled from her by the crew. The mate was struck by one while on deck with so much violence that he was glad to seek shelter in the cabin. Passengers on board described the surface of the river as being in the greatest commotion, the hailstones alighting continuously and causing the water to rise up several feet, giving the appearance of a boiling river.

The commotion continued thus for a half hour, when the storm ceased. The boat proceeded down the river, and it was discovered that while the Kentucky shore was green, the Ohio shore was white with hail, which had fallen to a depth of from two to four inches. The steamer Sam L. Keith coming up the river ran into the storm at Vevay, at 2 p. m., but there and then it was not so violent as to cause her to lay by. Growing tobacco was greatly damaged in the path of the storm, but other crops were not seriously injured.

NEW YORK DEMOCRACY.

Meeting at Cooper Institute in the Interest of Harmony. New York, Sept. 25.—An audience that filled the large hall of Cooper union assembled at the call in the interest of Democratic harmony in this city. Many prominent Democrats were upon the platform. David Dudley Field was unanimously received, chairman and was enthusiastically received. Mr. Field said the meeting had been called for the purpose of bringing about harmonious action among the Democrats of this city, as the existence of dissension in their ranks seriously endangered the success of the party in the future. The Republican party has mismanaged the affairs of the nation, as could be seen by excessive taxation, reckless and extravagant expenditure of public funds, and the encroachment of the federal authority on that of the states. The Republican party could not be displaced so long as the Democrats of this state were not united. Charles A. Dana and Joseph Pulitzer, editors of The Sun and World, respectively, were among the list of vice-presidents. Resolutions were presented by Congressman Butler, calling upon all Democrats to lay aside their differences and to unite against the common enemy, and denouncing all the leaders and organizations who failed to carry these resolutions into effect. A committee was appointed to present the resolutions at the state convention at Buffalo, and urge upon the Democratic masses the necessity of harmonious action.

The Tongue Difficulty. LONDON, Sept. 25.—The Times says: "We are convinced that France can not obtain Tonghin without war with China, but she may have Annam with full power to make commercial settlements in Tonghin without any further trouble. Until France fairly grasps this, we hardly see that any opportunity exists for the friendly service of a third party."

Remarkable Surgical Operation. SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 25.—Drs. Walter Ryan and George W. Kroger, of this city, and Dr. David Prince, of Jacksonville, assisted by several other physicians, removed from Mrs. Barbara Steinbrow an ovarian tumor weighing about eighty pounds and involving the pregnant uterus, which was also removed. This is one of the most important cases of the kind on record.

MORE SMUGGLING.

$50,000 Worth of Goods Seized in New York.

New York, Sept. 25.—Thirty trunks belonging to Mrs. Crothers, a dressmaker of this city, Mrs. L. S. Daniels, Mrs. Luther Daniels, Miss A. Partridge, and Miss C. A. Partridge of Boston, and Miss C. A. Ashmead of Philadelphia, were seized by customs officers. The owners were passengers in the steamship Alaska from Liverpool. It was charged that they had falsely or improperly declared the dutiable contents of the trunks that they might escape the payment of duties. The seizing officers were Inspectors Butler, Schenck, Horn, Meseman, and others. In the trunks of Mrs. Daniels were found about $8,000 worth of new goods. One of the Misses Partridge swooned in the seizure rooms during the examination of her trunks by Wislud. The goods of the two Mrs. Daniels were valued at $6,000, and those of Mrs. Crothers at $2,000. Among the articles were twenty silk, satin, velvet and worsted dresses, twenty-two cloaks and mantles, ten bonnets, 244 pairs of kid gloves, and a large amount of piece-goods, lace, and silk and linen underwear. Mr. Ashmead told Collector Robertson that he did not declare each article in his trunks because it was not the practice to do so in Philadelphia, where he lives. He was informed that the statute requires such a declaration. He is a relative of William Langan, Bardonia-Curtis Ashmead, Bartlett. In the trunks of Mr. Russell Smith of this city, was discovered a lot of fine jewelry which did not appear on his declaration. His daughter said that she had put it in the trunks without her father's knowledge. He paid the duties and the trunks were surrendered to him.

HE WAS WILD AND WOOLLY.

How Out the Lights and Pick Your Man.—Died at a Dance.

LAWRENCEBURG, Ind., Sept. 25.—At a dance given Friday night, by Paul Flacey, a farmer, residing three miles above Hazard, town, at which about seventy-five persons assembled, a free fight was inaugurated by Albert Neibrandt. In the midst of the dance Neibrandt started the melee by springing into the crowd, swinging a dagger, and shouting: "I am wild and woolly and hard to carry." Bill Holland, the floor manager, was armed with a board, mule at him and gave him a blow at his head. Neibrandt dodged and ran away, but on the head of Jim Miller, knocking him down. Springing to his feet and flourishing a large knife, Miller made for Holland. At this point general confusion prevailed, and the dance was broken up by the breaking down of doors and windows and the demolition of furniture. Women screamed and the children fled. The lights were finally put out. The walls, smeared with blood, told the tale of the mad work of the mob within. After the fight it was found that Bill Holland had been stabbed through the hand, John Holland, a brother of Bill Holland was cut through the left arm, and George Holland, another local, had an ear cut off. The fight was from four fatal wounds—one on the back of the head, one on the side of the neck, and two in the back, one penetrating the right lung. It is believed he will die. Neibrandt made his escape. A posse of officers and men are searching for him through the corn-fields of the river bottoms. Philip Herrou, one of the Neibrandt crowd, was caught and lodged in jail. Of the others injured, none were hurt seriously.

AMERICAN HOG VINDICATED.

Report of a Consul General on American Pork in Germany.

WASHINGTON CITY, Sept. 25.—General Consul Vogler, writing to the state department from Frankfurt-on-the-Main, concerning the prohibition of American pork in Germany, quotes the following extract from The Cologne Gazette to illustrate how little the banded itself believed in the correctness of the allegation that American pork was unwholesome. The direct reference is to the vote of the members from the Hansa towns—Hamburg, Bremen and Lubbeck. They have declared that they have been unable to convince themselves of the utility or the necessity of this measure, and that they have given in their consent only because sanitary conditions also were urged in regard to the measure, and they were unwilling to take the responsibility of being alone indifferent to the health of the German people. But as wise merchants they have at least permitted themselves to register their carrying trade, inasmuch as they have obtained permission to import American hog meat for re-exportation and to provision their own ships with American pork. That some very earnest and intelligent men in the Hansa towns do not believe in the danger of the trichina and the seriousness of the arguments in favor of the measure, to the sanitary consideration of the prohibition of American hog meat, it will undoubtedly prove very healthy for the purposes of our estate owners, but very unhealthy for the poorer classes of our population.

Too Much Married for Comfort.

CHICAGO, Sept. 25.—An intended "mock" marriage which took place on the pier Saginaw Valley, now in this port, has turned out to be not so much of a joke as the parties intended. During the last trip of the steamer from Ogdensburg to Chicago some of the young people on board got up a wedding just for fun. The contracting parties were Harry O'Laughlin, the steward, and a young lady from Bay City, Mich., whose parents are very wealthy. Rev. J. P. Ry, of St. Clement's church, Philadelphia, was the officiating minister, and the ceremony was performed with great solemnity. It is alleged that there was deep treachery somewhere in the affair.

The Peace of Europe.

LONDON, Sept. 25.—It is now certain that no agreements have been made between Count Kautsky, the Austrian premier, and Bismarck. European questions of this kind are not settled at their meetings, and the conclusion reached was that there is no present reason to fear the peace of Europe will be disturbed, and that while the alliance between Austria and Germany lasts neither country has anything to fear.

Springer in Iowa.

FAIRFIELD, Iowa, Sept. 25.—Hon. William M. Springer, of Illinois, made the first of a series of speeches in behalf of the Democratic party in Iowa at the opera house in this city. He was greeted by a large audience, and spoke for two or more hours. His speech met with general approval, and his remarks in regard to a protective tariff were frequently applauded.

Kenworthy Not a Candidate.

OKLAHOMA, Iowa, Sept. 25.—A number of papers of Iowa announced that W. Kenworthy, of Oklahoma, had announced himself as an independent candidate for the U. S. vacancy. This was wholly false and unauthorized. The opposition in this district has united upon Judge Cook.

THE WHEAT CROP.

Mr. Tallmadge, of Milwaukee, Says It Is 100,000,000 Bushels Short. MILWAUKEE, Sept. 25.—Mr. S. W. Tallmadge, of this city, presents a tabulated statement of the probable wheat crop of each state and territory in the United States for 1883. Mr. Tallmadge derives his information from the several agricultural departments of the different states, and his estimates are looked upon as not only reliable, but generally very correct. The following statement is made up from information received within the past few days from the state agricultural departments and other reliable sources, and many of the estimates are made from the actual threshing out of wheat. The figures show the total production to be a little over 100,000,000 bushels. The official reports of 1882 show a total production of 594,900,000 bushels, and the average production for the past five years is 470,000,000 bushels. This will make the crop of 1883 fully 100,000,000 bushels short of last year, and 50,000,000 bushels short of an average for the past five years. The figures are: Minnesota, 25,000,000; California, 20,000,000; Idaho, 28,000,000; Kansas, 25,000,000; Ohio, 24,000,000; Michigan, 24,000,000; Missouri, 22,000,000; Pennsylvania, 22,000,000; Illinois, 22,000,000; Iowa, 21,000,000; Wisconsin, 17,000,000; Dakota, 17,000,000; Nebraska, 17,000,000; Oregon, 13,000,000; Tennessee, 9,000,000; Virginia, 7,000,000; Maryland, 7,000,000; New York, 12,000,000; Kentucky, 10,000,000; Texas, 4,000,000; West Virginia, 4,000,000; Washington, 3,000,000; Colorado, 2,000,000; South Carolina, 2,000,000; Utah, 1,500,000; Arkansas, 2,000,000; Alabama, 1,500,000; Delaware, 1,500,000; Georgia, 700,000; Montana, 700,000; New Mexico, 600,000; Maine, 500,000; Arizona, 200,000; Mississippi, 200,000; Vermont, 200,000; New Hampshire, 200,000; Connecticut, 200,000; Wyoming, 50,000; Massachusetts, 50,000; Louisiana, 10,000; Florida, 1,000; Rhode Island, 1,000; total, 401,023,000. Mr. Tallmadge is now at work making up an estimate on the corn production for 1883, and will soon have it ready to present to the public.

MCDONALD THE MAN.

Senator Voorhees on the Presidential Question. NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—In conversation with a correspondent, Senator Voorhees of Indiana, said: "In my state there is a strong feeling in favor of Senator McDonald. I believe, the coming year, the old ticket will be the strongest man. The old ticket is the strongest man in the west, and the west is a big country. This is a fact of no ordinary significance. He is popular in Indiana, and there is a friendly feeling for him in the east where the sugar cane grows." "Coming yourself, did you look hopefully for the recognition of the convention?" "I am not a candidate. In the west many men are spoken of as 'ambitious,' but with me it is different. McDonald is the popular man, and as I have known him for upward of twenty years I am pretty well posted here to speak of him. Judge Holman will not differ with his followers in the convention, although it has been said he is talked of to run the ticket of McDonald." "Will Indiana come in with a majority for the Democracy?" "Indiana will be found when the time comes. Nothing less than a hurricane can in any way impede the popular feeling in 1884. The people at large have come to the conclusion that a change is needed. The question of tariff will not be so important an issue in the convention as it was in the last. Our position on that question has been clearly defined and accepted."

THE CHICAGO RAILWAY WAR.

A Trip to Indianapolis and a Chrono for Five Cents.

CHICAGO, Sept. 25.—Chicago scalpers sold a few tickets to Louisville for 50 cents, but the New Albany road shut down on their supplies. The rate of $1 to Indianapolis was applied by the Kanawha line and the Pennsylvania line in Chicago, and by the Hamilton & Dayton and the Indianapolis, St. Louis & Chicago road in Cincinnati. The Chicago & Eastern Illinois now announces tickets to Indianapolis for 5 cents, with a chrono map of the route. About 10 o'clock in the evening B. S. Hayes, of the Washburn road, arrived at Indianapolis and withdrew the general ticket agency in the Air-Line to stop selling $1 tickets in the Washburn road. A change of base was made in Massachusetts avenue depot, where the agent refused to sell Air-Line tickets because he was in the employ of the Union railway. The crowd on the platform was supplied with tickets by the Air-Line representatives, and the train left for Chicago.

Tragedy at Council Bluffs.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Iowa, Sept. 25.—Dr. A. B. McKune and Dr. B. B. Cross, of this city, met on one of the principal streets, when an altercation took place. Dr. Cross drew a revolver and shot Dr. McKune through the body, killing him. Dr. McKune was a young man of about 40 years of age, and was a prominent physician in the city, and was junior partner in the wholesale firm of McKune & McKune. Cross in shooting McKune accidentally shot himself through the hand. The murderer is now in jail. Public feeling is very bitter against him.

Massachusetts Greenbackers.

BOSTON, Sept. 25.—The Greenback party of Massachusetts, which usually polls from 4,000 to 5,000 votes, is to hold its convention here. Since Gov. Butler, its former chief, has officially pronounced Greenbackism dead, there has been a revulsion of feeling on the part of a few of the band, and a split has occurred in its ranks. Hon. E. Moody Boynton issues a call for another state convention to be held in Worcester, Oct. 10, and at the same time warns all true Greenbackers to stay away from the meeting here, which will without much doubt nominate Butler.

An urgent request is extended to the ladies of Christ church to meet at the residence of the rector to-morrow, (Wednesday) at 3 p. m. to perfect arrangements for serving refreshments at the fair grounds next week.

Notwithstanding the large number of vehicles on the streets to-day, amidst the bands of music, the noise and confusion of pedestrians, the circus parade, the display of little Jumbo balloons, and so forth, we hear of no smashups to record.

The jury in the case of Thomas Doran, tried in the municipal court yesterday afternoon on a charge of breaking into a saloon and stealing a watch and some whisky, after being out about forty minutes, brought in a verdict of "not guilty," and the prisoner was discharged.

The trustees of Court street Methodist church for the ensuing year, elected at the quarterly conference held last night, are as follows: M. M. Phelps, H. F. Bliss, Dr. E. E. Loomis, J. B. Carle, Charles Dutton, N. O. Clark, S. D. Ocasat, J. M. Bostwick, and N. Smith.

Two very fine bonnets and a bustle were found in the open ground between the residences of Mr. E. B. Richardson and Mr. S. Holdredge this morning. We are requested to state that the owners can have their property by calling on Mr. Richardson, and proving property. We omit writing a two-column sensation on the affair, as the above are all the facts known.

There was a fair-sized audience at the opera house last night to witness the performance of Uncle Tom's Cabin by Charles Forbes dramatic company. This company has the reputation of producing this play in a manner not excelled by that of any troupe on the road. People will flock to hear it when played well, and this accounts for Mr. Forbes' great success.

Our city was very orderly to-day considering the vast crowd of people on the streets, and the number of attractions on every corner to draw attention and attract crowds. The police force was reinforced this morning by the appointment of several specials; but up to twelve o'clock only five arrests had been made, two drunks and three men who were found in possession of swindling devices.

Mrs. Cham. Ingersoll, Mrs. Sally Daine, Mrs. Van Inwagen, and Miss Mary Gordon, all of that rural place Beloit, deserted their homes to-day and came to Janesville to see Jumbo and the circus. A good show like that of Barnum's, with a few elephants and a clown or two, are a rare attraction for the average Beloit ladies. But only think of it, a bevy of prominent women running fourteen miles to a circus. This shows how rapidly our civilization is advancing.

Mr. Eugene Sullivan, of Belvidere whose occupation is that of a peddler, was accidentally run into by Mr. Alva Russell at the depot last evening while going to meet the accommodation train from Chicago. The accident occurred on the open space of ground near the depot. The polo of Mr. Russell's back so struck Mr. Sullivan that he was knocked down and one of his ribs broken. He was taken to the drug store of F. Sherer & Co., where Dr. St. John attended to his injuries, when he was taken to the home of his sister-in-law, Mrs. B. Sullivan, in the fifth ward.

Mr. Richard R. Leo will go to Chicago to-morrow for the purpose of entering the employ of Messrs. Towle, Carle & Co. wholesale grocers, as one of their traveling salesmen. For the past twelve years Mr. Leo, familiarly known as "Dick," has been with the grocery house of Mr. W. T. Vankirk, of this city, where he has made an army of friends, both in the city and country, who will wish him success in his new field. The Messrs. Towle, Carle & Co. could not have taken a better or more popular young man from this city, and while we regret that he is to leave the city, join with many others in wishing him continued prosperity.

There has been a good deal of merriment created in the city by an ignorant use of the word see by a certain idiot not far from here. The paper has said several times of late that Mrs. Blank, nee Mrs. Elank, is so and so. Whoever heard of a person being born married? Nee means born, and is a term used to denote "the family name of a female before her marriage," so that Mrs. Blank, nee Mrs. Elank, means that she was a married person when she was born. Of course this is ridiculous, but it shows how carelessly foreign words are used by persons who do not either know or comprehend their meaning.

Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Charles E. Cummings lost sixty dollars under rather peculiar circumstances, and which led to the arrest of a peddler who was seen in the vicinity. Mrs. Cummings and Mrs. F. G. Stevens dined at the Myers house, and after dinner repaired to the home of Mrs. Stevens in the second ward. Near three o'clock the peddler was seen passing hurriedly by a rear window. Some one of the little girls came into the house with Mrs. Cummings' shopping bag, which had been left near one of the out buildings a few minutes previous and forgotten. The bag contained besides the amount of money missing, the sum of twenty-five dollars, which was concealed in one of the compartments of the bag. The officers were informed of the facts, and shortly afterward the peddler was arrested, taken to fore the municipal court, and gave $3000 bail for his appearance to-morrow at 9 o'clock.

THE GREATEST SHOW ON EARTH!

A Combination That Draws an Immense Throng.

Streets Literally Packed with Curious Sight Seers.

Who Gazed with Wonder on the Gorgeous Procession.

The Circus a Revelation in Ring Show History.

"The biggest show on earth" is in Janesville to-day, and in the eyes of the thousands who are in the city to witness the grand street parade this forenoon and visit the canvas exhibition, P. T. Barnum is looked upon as one of the greatest men of his time. In a certain sense this estimate of him is correct, for no man ever did more to furnish the people with a first class circus and menagerie amusement than he, and those associated with him. That their efforts are appreciated was shown by the immense crowds of people which thronged the streets to witness the great parade. By seven o'clock this morning the throngs began arriving, and before eight the streets were crowded with people from the city, country and neighboring towns, each train bringing car loads of people all patiently awaiting the appearance of the procession. The crowd was the largest ever seen in our streets before on the occasion of a circus. The streets, stores and upper rooms about the central portion of the city were so packed with people that it was almost impossible for the procession to pass through. The throngs witnessed were in every way worthy of the attendance of so vast a throng. There was a glittering array of golden chariots more than a mile in length, drawn by the finest looking equines ever seen in the city. The horses were all well matched and were noble specimens of the equine family. That part of the exhibition was of itself worth a trip of many miles to see. When to that is added the innumerable array of "hords and ladies fair," with their gaily caparisoned horses, a spectacle was presented that made it an event of a life time to witness. But that was not all. Large numbers of ferocious animals, including lions, leopards, tigers, hyenas, panthers and bears, were exposed to view in their cages, accompanied by their trainers, which demonstrated the power a human being exercises in the control of the brute creation. The sea lion and her cub were also interesting features. To those interested in natural history the strange human beings, which seem only a little higher than the brute creation, were a notable part of the parade. Another interesting display was played was the herd of elephants, twenty-six in number, which formed a notable part of the parade.

Well, the glittering procession, with its bands of music, steam chime of bells, the veritable callopes, and other steam musical instruments finally passed from view, and the great crowd made its way to the show grounds, at the foot of South Jackson street, fourth ward, where the eight acres of canvas is spread. One hardly obtains an idea of the magnitude of the show until he has walked around the city of tents. The three exhibition tents, are the largest ever seen in this state, besides there are the horse stables and the culinary tents, where the army of workmen are fed. Hundreds of people visited the grounds to day and inspected the wonderful city which sprang up like magic this morning.

This afternoon the members of the city press were shown through the circus and menagerie, and every department of the show, by Mr. D. S. Thomas, the press agent of this atlantic combination. Mr. Thomas is the most accomplished and experienced press agents in the United States, and has devoted many years of patient study to the show business. Under his guidance we were shown "The greatest show on earth." The circus is a revelation in ring shows. A triple circus given in three rings simultaneously, and a huge stage for special performances, such as boxing, fencing, wrestling, bicycling, unicycling, high wire, slack wire, etc.; there are aerialists, acrobats, trapezists, etc.; two double menageries, world of natural history, and there is the great Roman hippodrome with its royally magnificent features, including Roman standing races, thrilling four-horse chariot races, flat, hurdle, steeplechase, male and female jockey races, elephant and camel races, monkey jockey races and so on. The Roman and Greek contests are most spirited, and never fail to evoke thunders of applause from the spectators. The spectacular entree and waltzes of the riders almost drive the susceptible youth crazy. Even old people in vain strive to hide from their neighbors the pleasure that lurks in their eyes, and has full possession of their souls, as they watch the spangled knights and acrobatic aerolites whirl and turn in the triple rings.

On leaving the exhibition this afternoon we were introduced to Messrs. Bailey and Hutchinson, who with Mr. P. T. Barnum are the owners of this monster show. We found the above gentlemen in good spirits, and seemingly well pleased with their visit to the Bower City. The number of people in attendance this afternoon was estimated at not less than ten thousand, which we think a little low.

Facts to be Remembered.

To the Editor.

There are several counties in Illinois that grant no license for the sale of intoxicating liquors. In order to ascertain the difference between license and no license, Mr. F. J. Adams, an agent of the Illinois state temperance union, instituted a comparison between thirteen counties where no license was granted, and thirteen where the license system prevailed. In the group of license counties there was a population of 217,597, while the no license group contained 221,370. In the counties without saloons, during 1882, there were arrested for crime but 48 persons, more than half of whom were arrested while under the influence of liquor obtained in counties that were blessed (?) with grog shops.

Now look at the other side. In the thirteen counties that granted license there were 293 saloons, and in this favored (?) group of counties, during 1882, there were 501 persons arrested for the commission of crime. This certainly tells a good story in favor of prohibition.

Mr. Adams further says that in Clay county, with a population of over 10,000, with no saloons, there were, during 1882, no prisoners, no murders, and no theft. In Edwards county, with a population of nearly 9,000, there have been no saloons during the past twenty-five years, and in that time but one convict has been sent to the penitentiary.

Do not facts such as these justify the intense and increasing opposition which is now stoutly waged against the dram shop curse?

Death of Lady Douglas.

The favorite trotting horse Lady Douglas, the property of Mr. James Van Etta, of Fulton, was killed by lightning during the thunder storm on Sunday. Lady Douglas was in the pasture standing under a tree when the bolt descended killing her instantly. She was twenty-one years old, being foaled in 1862, and was bred by Mr. O'Donnell, of the town of Rock. She was got by Vermont Hero, son of Hale's Green Mountain Morgan; he by Gifford Morgan; dam by St. Patrick (thoroughbred) son of American Eclipse. She made a record of 2:30 in this city on July 2d, 1872. She was purchased when a few years old by Mr. Van Etta for five thousand dollars, cash. For a number of years past he has used her only for breeding purposes. The following are her foals:

1875, b. f., Maggie Douglas, by Robert Fulton.

1876, b. c., Ill Luck (gelded) by Robert Fulton.

1877, br. c., Robert Douglas, by Robert Fulton.

1878, brown g. Major Douglas, by Robert Fulton.

1880, b. f., Lizzie Douglas, by Robert Fulton.

1881, b. g., not named.

The loss of Lady Douglas will be regretted by all horsemen who were acquainted with her excellent points, but by none more than her owner, who prized her highly.

A Cityman's Testimony.

W. E. Gifford, pastor M. E. church, Bottwell, Ont., was for two years a sufferer with dyspepsia in its worst form until as he states "life became an actual burden." Three bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters cured him, and he tells us in a recent letter that he before the country for dyspepsia and liver complaint.

The Land of Promise.

An exchange says: "Wisconsin people are going rapidly to the front in Dakota, and some of the liveliest towns in that territory have been founded by families from this vicinity. There is every prospect that Dakota will be the next state admitted into the union, and while crops throughout most of the states are less than fair, Dakota has harvested her usual consecutive and reliable yield. Along the line of the Northern Pacific railway business is booming, and just now people in this part of the country are looking towards Crystal Springs, in Kidder county, sixty-three miles east of Bismarck, the new capital. The town site is owned by W. C. Spafford, of Chicago, and G. H. Mason, of Kalamazoo, Mich., who have already built a fine hotel, and are doing everything to aid settlers in securing land etc. The railway company has put in side tracks, switches, a good passenger house, freight depot, telegraph office etc., and Crystal Springs is evidently destined to soon become one of the best towns in that wonderful territory."
